HON. SENATOR GIRARD, whose death was recorded a few days ago, was an uncle of Mrs. Geo. Roy, of Edmonton. The deceased senator will always be held in grateful memory by the citizens of this place as the man who was first to speak out with all the authority which his knowledge of the circumstances in the responsibility of his position gave him in favor of the location of the government buildings now in progress in the town of Edmonton. His was the case of an honorable man occupying an honorable position, and using his great gifts for the public good.

THE death of Mrs. D. McLeod occurred on Tuesday evening at the house of her son, Malcolm McLeod, Edmonton, from congestion of the lungs. The deceased lady was 73 years of age and came from Wolseley, Assiniboia, about two months ago, to spend the remainder of her days with her children who are settled at Edmonton. She leaves a large family, which includes Messrs. Alex. Malcolm, Angus and Jas. McLeod, Edmonton, John McLeod, Wolseley, and D. McLeod, Gladstone, Manitoba; Mrs. Murdoch McLeod and Mrs. T. G. Ross, Edmonton, and Mrs. R. Belcher, Regina. Mr. McLeod was in Wolseley settling up his affairs preparatory to removing to Edmonton, and is expected to arrive on to-night's train.

Kamloops Sentinel: "The want of rain, and a long spell of hot weather which has continued for two months past, have brought the ranges into a worse condition as to pasture than has ever been known before at this time of the year. This is particularly the case in the direction of Nicola, but not more so than throughout the entire dry belt of the interior, as far as our inquiries have extended. Cattle are, however, looking well up to the present time, but what will be the effect on late pasturage remains to be seen, and causes some uneasiness among stockmen."

GENERAL NEWS.

Lariviere, M. P., is mentioned as senator from Manitoba to succeed the late senator Girard.

The threshers of the Portage Plains have fixed the rate per bushel at 4c for wheat and 3c for oats.

The Free Press publishes a report that lieutenant-governors Schultz and Royal are possible candidates for senatorships.

Five deaths from cholera have occurred in New York city, and a steamer has arrived at Quebec with cholera on board. Five deaths occurred on the vessel at sea.

Qu'Appelle Vidette: "But because Mr. Ross resigned was that any reason why His Honor should dismiss the house, and thereby throw their month's labor into the waste basket together with $13,600 of the Territorial funds."

"It is rumored," says the Winnipeg correspondent of the Empire, "that Mr. Macdowall, one of the Northwest members, is shortly to resign his seat in the House of Commons, and will support, as his successor, J. F. Betts, who has just been instrumental in defeating Premier Haultain's Northwest government."

The Macleod Gazette has interviewed Mr. Haultain on the prorogation question. On the question of school grants Mr. Haultain said: "The school grants must be paid under the law as it stands. A large number of the smaller schools will undoubtedly suffer on account of the new system not coming into force; for this Mr. Cayley and his friends are directly responsible; it was their action which caused our prorogation; they made no honest attempt to obviate a threatened deadlock; they made a bogus nomination for the speakership, which they knew would not be accepted, and then, by the aid of the governor, were enabled to retain office by means of prorogation. The lieutenant-governor must take the responsibility for none of our bills becoming law, and I do not suppose that he was at all averse to giving the Mowat school bill, which contained a new system of grants, a twelve months hoist."

Lethbridge News: "The legislative position at Regina appears now to have taken definite shape. In a recent interview with Mr. Cayley, published in the Regina Leader, that gentleman made it clear that he and his associates were determined to hold office if they possibly could until the usual time for next year's session of the assembly. He made no concealment of his antagonism to the proposed re-assembling of the legislature this year, condemning it as an unnecessary expense to the country, and in view of the spirit which lieutenant-governor Royal has evinced in this controversy, there is no doubt but that he, unless he receives orders from Ottawa to act otherwise, will shelter himself under Mr. Cayley's wing and support him in his course. The result of this must inevitably be a retrogression from the onward march of the Territories to constitutional government. Our position will be for the next twelve months exactly the same as that in which we would be if no Territorial legislature was in existence. The affairs and finances of the country will be administered by the lieutenant-governor on the advice of four men who do not possess the confidence of either a majority of the people of the Territories or of the assembly. Such a position as this was never foreseen or intended by the Dominion parliament when they, by act of parliament, established the Northwest legislative assembly. It was intended that the government of the Territories should within certain limits, be carried on by the assembly, and the monies granted or belonging to the people of the Territories expended by or on the authority of that body. This, however, is not now to be the case. A very grave deviation has been made from the constitution granted us by parliament and which we are entitled to enjoy. And for this deviation no reasonable excuse can be offered."

JAS. MASSON, M. P., of Owen Sound, Ont., who visited Edmonton last month, was interviewed on his return by the Owen Sound Times. Mr. Masson gave an account of his trip through the Northwest and British Columbia. Of Edmonton he said: At Edmonton Mayor McCauley, formerly of this neighborhood, entertained the party on behalf of the corporation. They were serenaded by a band, driven to the various points of interest and escorted across the Saskatchewan river on a ferry to visit the coal mines. From the banks of the river they viewed the bar where people who have nothing else to do can make from $1 to $2.50 per day washing gold from the sand. They then drove out into the country to see the rich agricultural products of the land, and for vigorous vegetable growth Mr. Masson says the neighborhood surpassed anything in the Northwest, or in the Dominion for that matter. Among other market gardens that of D. Ross was visited and it was admitted by all members of the party that the products of Mr. Ross' place were much superior to anything that could be found in the older provinces. The coal mines are of an interesting character, the product being obtained from the side of the cliff where it is visible in a drift 4 feet thick. The coal is of a fine quality and sells in the town for $2.50 a ton."

EDMONTON BULLETIN, SEPTEMBER 22, 1892.

CATTLE.

Kamloops Sentinel: "The coast cities were very much exercised last year because Premier Abbott saw fit to enforce the quarantine of three months against American cattle. It was feared that the cost of beef would be increased to the consumer, if American cattle should be thus excluded. The result appears to have been that the cattle raisers of the Northwest, with the assistance of a low freight on the C. P. R., were, last winter and spring, able to supply those markets to the exclusion not only of American, but British Columbia cattle as well. The consequence is that cattle which the provincial stock-raisers, before this quarantine and low freight "got in their work," could sell at 5½ cents per pound, are worth only 3 to 4 cents, and slow sale at that. The question now is, who is making a profit out of this turn of affairs?"

Times are changed since the 70's when cattle were driven across the Rockies, from Kootenay and Kamloops, to furnish Edmonton with beef; and yet cattle in British Columbia were not worth as much then as they are now. The complaint of the Sentinel against the unequal rates of the C. P. R. as being the cause of the drop in prices complained of is not altogether well founded. The quarantine against United States cattle gave the British Columbia stockmen the same advantage as it did to the stock raisers of Alberta. Unfortunately for them they were not in the same position to profit by it. During the season, from January until June, when cattle were chiefly imported from the United States, the cattle of British Columbia were not fit for market. During that season a large and constantly increasing proportion of Alberta cattle are. So Alberta sells when the quarantine prevents the United States from selling and when lack of grass affects British Columbia the same way. This is where the Edmonton farmer's pull comes in. With abundance of pasture all summer, abundance of hay, coarse grains and roots and cheap, warm stabling, it is his own fault if he does not supply British Columbia with beef from January until June, for although in some years there are fat cattle on the Southern ranges in the winter and spring in others there are none, and they are never as good beef as can be most cheaply made by winter feeding in this district. The real cause of the drop in prices for British Columbia cattle during the season in which they are fit for sale is that the unlimited ranges of Southern Alberta are producing cattle in numbers which necessitate finding a market, and these come in direct competition with the cattle raised on the restricted and eaten out ranges of British Columbia. Unless it is proposed that the C. P. R. should exact such a rate on Alberta cattle as would prohibit their transport to the coast—which is hardly the business of that railway—it is hard to see how the less favorable conditions at present surrounding stock raising in British Columbia can be overcome so as to bring back the high prices and large profits of a few years ago when the demand was far in excess of the supply, and the local ranges controlled the local market. There does not appear to be anything before the stock raisers of British Columbia than to accept the situation with as good a grace as possible and, like other people, be content with a reasonable profit. Their ranges in the first place were really better than those of Alberta, but they have through over stocking—that is greed—caused them to be run out in a measure. They have danted for many years and now complain because they have to pay the piper.

WEDDING.

A fashionable wedding took place last evening in All Saints' church, being the marriage of R. Hardisty, eldest son of the late Senator Hardisty, to Miss Maggie Taylor, third daughter of Thos. Taylor, of the H. B. Co., Lake St. Ann. Long before the hour of 8 p.m., at which time the ceremony was to take place, the church was crowded with relations, friends and acquaintances of the young couple, anxious to see them make a start in life together. The groom was assisted through the ceremony by his cousin, Frank Hardisty, and P. L. McNamara. The bride entered leaning on the arm of her father and followed by her bridesmaids, Miss Lulu Taylor, Miss Birdie Young, Miss Annie Daly and Miss Pearl Johnston. The bride's dress was of cream silk, and she wore a wreath of natural flowers and veil. As she entered the organist, Mr. Randall, played the first strains of "The voice that breathed o'er Elen," and as she took her place beside the bridegroom the choir sang the hymn. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. Cunningham in a most impressive manner, and the choir sang an appropriate hymn and chant. At the conclusion of the service the organ played the "Wedding March" as the newly made husband and wife left the church, amidst the congratulations and good wishes of their friends.

The wedding party then proceeded to the H. B. Co.'s fort where the large two story building, known as the reserve warehouse, had been fitted up for the occasion. The upper story made one large ball room. The walls were draped with flags and red, white and blue cloth and decorated with evergreens, lacrosse sticks and cricket bats and wickets. The wedding presents, which were numerous, costly, beautiful and useful, were displayed on tables at the upper end of the room. The newly married couple received their friends in the ball-room as they arrived and dancing began at a little after nine o'clock. Supper was served at 11, the lower story of the building having been converted into a splendid supper-room. Two tables the full length of the room could not accommodate all the guests at once. The tables were decorated with flowers and the spread was elegant and excellent in every particular. After supper dancing was resumed and kept up to the music of the violin and piano until 3 o'clock. Then after another round of congratulations and well wishing the party dispersed. Mr. and Mrs. Hardisty will leave on Friday's train on a two weeks' trip to the coast, and will then take up their residence at Merchiston ranch, Sturgeon river. They have the best wishes of the whole community.

And whereas it is expedient to borrow the said sum of $10,000.00 by the issue of debentures, the principal whereof shall be repayable within ten years from the date upon which this by-law shall take effect, and which shall bear interest in the meantime payable half yearly at the rate of six per cent per annum.

GENERAL NEWS.

The following varieties of fruits, grown in the garden of Mr. Thomas Frankland, Stonewall, Manitoba, are now on view at the provincial immigration office: Seeding crabs, Russian apples, six varieties of plums, vegetable peach, garden lemon, ground cherries, nestegg gourds and peanuts. There is also a magnificent specimen of tomatoes, of the variety known as the tree tomato, having on it 51 large tomatoes, some of them weighing 1½ pounds, grown in the open by J. C. McNabb, 213 Vaughan street, Winnipeg.

GLOBE report of the Toronto exhibition: "Crowds daily throng the C. P. R. building to examine closely the grain, coal, fruit and grasses from the sun-kissed slopes of Alberta. The exhibit is a most instructive one and tells a great tale about that portion of Canada. News of Alberta and the Edmonton district is eagerly sought after." Then follows the report of the Michigan delegates on the Edmonton district which has already appeared in the BULLETIN. "Messrs. Caven and Douglas, who are in charge of the Alberta exhibit at the C. P. R. building, are kept busy answering questions put by those anxious to know all about that great western country. Many have already expressed themselves as intending to settle in Alberta this fall or next spring."

Ottawa Journal: "The prorogation of the Northwest assembly seems to have been brought about by one of the most diversified political amalgams on record in this or any other country. The anything-to-beat-Grant combination across the line which leagued together such discordant elements was scarcely to be compared to the body now led by Mr. Cayley in the Northwest legislature. The explanations of the causes that led to the deadlock and prorogation are fluent, but incomplete. Time alone will reveal the bargain that is at the bottom of this queer upset in the administration of the public affairs of the territories. Although such pains have been taken to impress the public mind in the east with the idea that separate school matters had nothing to do with the new deal, we shall be surprised if a bargain and sale agreement is not the basis of the union of separate school supporters and Orangemen to-day witnessed in the Northwest."

Portage Liberal: "In a house of twenty-six members, the executive formed by him (Cayley) has thirteen opponents, consequently he has not the confidence of the house, and by all constitutional usage he is bound to hand in his resignation of office to the lieutenant-governor and allow some one who can command the confidence of the house to carry on the affairs of the country. Mr. Haultain, his predecessor in office, found himself practically in the same position. He had the confidence of exactly one-half of the House, one of his supporters, Mr. Ross, being speaker. He did not hesitate to resign; but Mr. Cayley, assisted by unconstitutional governor Royal, does not hesitate to hold onto the reins of power by having the council prorogued. In the meantime the executive and the truculent Royal will appropriate the revenue as they please. Mr. Cayley has the audacity in an interview to uphold this monstrous action by saying that as it will cost $20,000 to have a new election, that no such course should be taken. . . . The proroguing of the house by proclamation, and not in the regular way, was another outrage. In this way many bills that had been passed and only awaited the lieutenant-governor's assent, became nullities, and the cost of the session amounting to nearly the $20,000, that Mr. Cayley talks so plaintively about, is a dead loss to the Territories."

As a rule it is useless to say anything about prices in an advertisement as each claims to sell cheaper than his neighbor and such statements are usually taken for what they are worth. But as regards any of the above lines I intend to excel for this season any way, and a comparison of goods and prices will certainly convince the most skeptical that there has been a revolution in prices.

JAMES REILLY, of Calgary, arrived from Des Moines, Iowa, on Monday's train, accompanied by Messrs. Fox and Dietz, delegates from Iowa, who are prospecting the Northwest under Mr. Reilly's supervision. Both gentlemen are much pleased with the country, especially from the Lone Pine to Edmonton. They drove out to St. Albert on Tuesday and were very favorably impressed with the appearance of the harvest fields there and the samples of grain. Iowa is a very prosperous and wealthy state, where the land is valued at from $50 an acre and upwards and where a large part of the farming population occupy rented land. They would gladly exchange their condition of renters for that of owners, but cannot purchase at the high price, and therefore many are desirous of removing to a region where good and cheap land can be had. Formerly the overflow went to Nebraska, Kansas or Dakota. These states have become discredited through bad seasons, and people are now more willing to try the, to them, unknown Northwest rather than the proven failures of these other states. Co-operative dairying or the creamery system has reached a high pitch of profitable perfection in Iowa, and as this is a branch of agricultural industry for which Alberta is peculiarly adapted. Mr. Reilly is confident that there is a good field for profitable immigration work in that state. In this Messrs. Fox and Dietz agree.

A. E. CROSS, manager of the Calgary Brewing & Malting Co., writes to John Cameron on the barley question. His company will be prepared to purchase barley for cash this fall, but the grain they require must approach the following standards: 1. Free from all other grains; 2. Not frozen; 3. Clear and bright; 4. May be six rowed or two rowed, but must not be mixed; 5. Weigh 48 pounds per bushel or over; 6. Free from must, rust or other like injury; 7. Must not be broken, as that prevents germination. The price that will be paid will be announced shortly.
